Office of the Governor Announcement

Last Thursday, Oct. 1, 2020, I had lunch with someone who tested positive on Friday. Over the weekend, I had a headache and minor aches and today, I had a slight runny nose.

Today, Monday, Oct. 5, 2020, I tested at a clinic this evening and the test came back positive.

Currently, I feel fine and I am trying to resume a normal life without going anywhere but its tough trying to stay home. All in all as of today, symptoms are a mild headache and runny nose but no fever. I appreciate all the kind words and prayers and hope to be back to work soon.

For now, Zoom calls and other media will have to be the work environment.

Thank you all and everyone stay safe and keep your mask on.

Hohóú / Né-á'eše,
Reggie Wassana
Governor
